

Severe Storms possible Late Wednesday

Boston/Norton, MA
WEATHER FORECAST OFFICE

OVERVIEW:

- Cold front will bring a chance for severe storms late Wednesday and Wednesday night.
- Greatest risk is across interior southern New England.

TIMING

- Roughly 4pm to Midnight

HAZARDS & IMPACTS

- Damaging wind gusts may take down trees and limbs
- Heavy rain may result in localized flooding, especially in urban and poor drainage areas
- Low probability of large hail and isolated tornado in strongest storms

FORECAST CHALLENGES

- Timing of the storms
- Areal coverage & intensity of storms, will strong storms reach Rhode Island & eastern Massachusetts?

POST-EVENT OUTLOOK

- Unsettled; precipitation chances everyday through the weekend
- Seasonable temps in the 70s to near 80

NEXT BRIEFING

- By 6 am Tuesday