

Strong Winds Today/Tonight

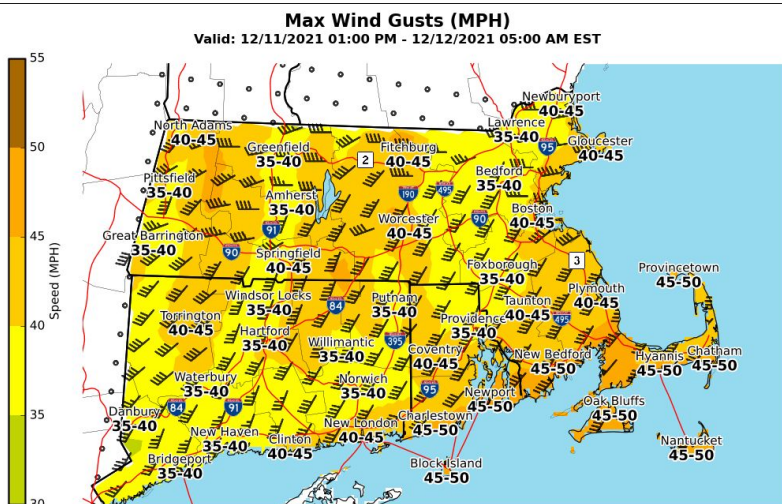

Boston/Norton, MA

WEATHER FORECAST OFFICE

OVERVIEW:

- 40-50 mph wind gusts expected Today and Tonight as a frontal system moves through southern New England.

TIMING	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Strongest south to southwest winds Sat afternoon into early night.Strongest west to west-northwest winds late Sat night into overnight.
HAZARDS & IMPACTS	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Wind gusts from 40-50 mph for Cape Cod, Islands, and South Coast possible Sat afternoon prior to the frontal passage35-45 mph gusts possible for all of southern New England late Sat night; strongest gusts likely in the Berkshires.
NWS ALERTS	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Gale Warning for the coastal waters from [7 AM Sat - Noon Sun]Wind Advisory for all of southern New England [1 PM Sat - 5 AM Sun]
FORECAST CHALLENGES	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Narrow band of gusty showers, low prob of thunder with cold front passage that could produce sporadic stronger gusts to 60+ mph
POST-EVENT OUTLOOK	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Cool/dry Sunday afternoon with blustery northwest winds (20-25 mph)Quiet weather early next week
NEXT BRIEFING	Last Briefing

National Weather Service
Boston/Norton, MA
12/11/2021 02:29 AM EST

Follow Us:
weather.gov/Boston