

Light Icing Possible Wed AM

Boston/Norton, MA
WEATHER FORECAST OFFICE

OVERVIEW:

- Areas of light freezing rain/freezing drizzle late tonight/Wednesday morning, mainly in the Worcester Hills, Berkshires and Merrimack Valley
- Any icing which occurs will be light, but may cause hazardous travel

TIMING	▪ From around midnight to noon Wednesday
HAZARDS & IMPACTS	▪ Untreated roads may become icy ▪ Mainly concerned with the higher elevations of the Worcester Hills, the east slopes of the Berkshires and Merrimack Valley
NWS ALERTS	▪ Winter Weather Advisory expanded west to the east slopes of the Berkshires in MA. In effect midnight to noon Wednesday.
FORECAST CHALLENGES	▪ Uncertainty remains with areal coverage and duration before the Wednesday morning commute ▪ Light snow also a possibility, mainly for northwest and north central MA.
ADDITIONAL INFORMATION	▪ Mainly rain south and east of I-95 with above freezing temperatures
POST-EVENT OUTLOOK	▪ Temperatures rise above freezing by Wednesday afternoon, ending the freezing rain threat
NEXT BRIEFING	▪ By 6 AM Wednesday	