

Boston/Norton, MA
WEATHER FORECAST OFFICE

- Accumulating snowfall across much of southern New England today into early Monday
- 3 to 6 inches of snow across southeast MA, including the Cape/Islands
- Totals of 3 to 5 inches for the I-95 corridor, and up to 2 inches north of the MA Pike and west of I-495

Expected Storm Total Snowfall

From 1 AM Sunday Through 7 AM Monday

Weather Forecast Office
Boston/Norton, MA
Issued Feb 13, 2022 3:29 AM EST

The map displays the expected total snowfall from a storm system moving through New England. A vertical color scale on the left indicates snowfall amounts in inches, ranging from 0 (lightest blue) to 8 (yellow). The map shows the following snowfall expectations for various locations:

- Greenfield: <1"
- Pittsfield: <1"
- Great Barrington: 1-2"
- Springfield: 1-2"
- Torrington: 1-2"
- Hartford: 2"
- Waterbury: 3"
- New Haven: 3-4"
- New London: 2-3"
- Block Island: 2-3"
- Charlestown: 3-4"
- Willimantic: 4-6"
- Providence: 4-6"
- Worcester: 2-3"
- Fitchburg: 1-2"
- Lawrence: 1-2"
- Boston: 3-4"
- Plymouth: 8"
- Provincetown: 4-6"
- Hyannis: 4-6"
- New Bedford: 3-4"
- Oak Bluffs: 3"
- Nantucket: 3"

Source: Iri, Meteo, GfGf, Earthstar Geographics, CNES/Airbus DS, USDA, USGS, AeroGRID, IGN, and the GIS User Community

weather.gov/bos