

Wind and Rain Tonight

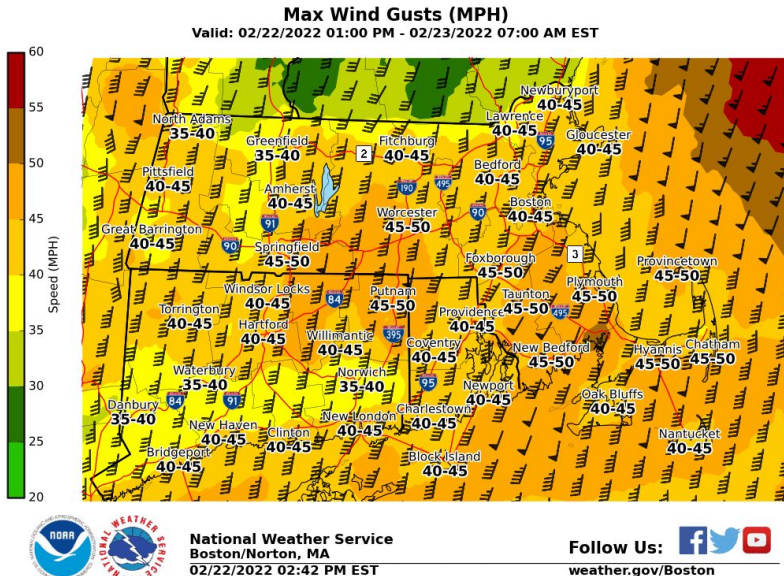

Boston/Norton, MA

WEATHER FORECAST OFFICE

OVERVIEW:

- Widespread rainfall tonight
- Gusty south winds developing. Peak gusts up to 50 mph possible

TIMING	▪ Strongest wind gusts right around midnight, mainly across the eastern half of southern New England
HAZARDS & IMPACTS	▪ Gusty winds could lead to minor tree damage, and possible isolated power outages.
NWS ALERTS	▪ Wind Advisory in effect from 8 PM this evening through 5 AM Wednesday
FORECAST CHALLENGES	▪ Strength of the winds which reach the surface. There is a possibility that winds will not be as strong.
POST-EVENT OUTLOOK	▪ Widespread rain ends Wednesday morning, with lingering showers into the afternoon. Still gusty into the afternoon, but not as strong. Highs in the 50s and 60s.
NEXT BRIEFING	▪ Last briefing	