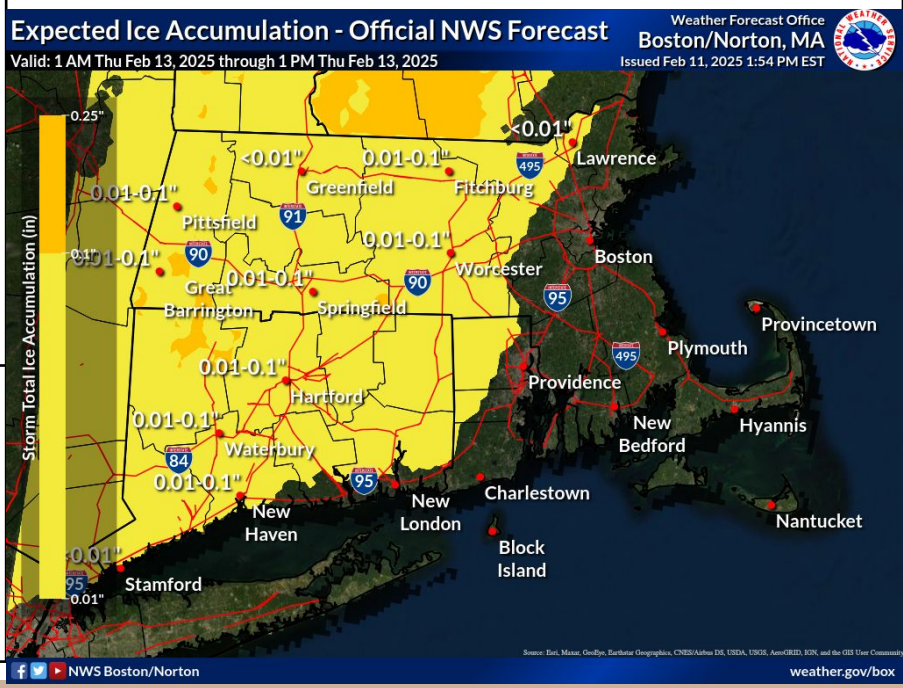
Wintry Mix Wed PM to Thu AM

Boston/Norton, MA
WEATHER FORECAST OFFICE

OVERVIEW:

- Minor travel impacts are expected away from the coast as a brief period of snow Wednesday evening changes to sleet and freezing rain overnight, before ending as rain by Thursday afternoon.

TIMING	▪ Brief period of snow late Wednesday evening north and west of I-95. ▪ Snow transitions to sleet and freezing rain from south to north during the early morning hours of Thursday away from the coast. ▪ Precipitation ends as rain by Thursday afternoon.
HAZARDS & IMPACTS	▪ Minor travel impacts expected. ▪ Slippery travel late Wednesday evening into early Thursday morning due to minor snow accumulation and possible light icing.
NWS ALERTS	▪ Winter Weather Advisory in effect Wednesday night into Thursday morning for northern Connecticut, much of interior Massachusetts, and northwestern Rhode Island.
FORECAST CHALLENGES	▪ How quickly snow transitions to sleet and freezing rain, as well as the duration of freezing rain early Thursday morning. ▪ Winter Weather Advisory may need to be extended farther east to include more of the Boston and Providence metro areas.
POST-EVENT OUTLOOK	▪ Rain will end Thursday afternoon, with temperatures reaching the 40s.
NEXT BRIEFING	▪ 6 AM Wednesday



ISSUED: 02/11/2025 02:00 PM

www.weather.gov/box